

AIA Connecticut 2005 Alice Washburn Awards

Jurors:

Leonard J. Baum of Leonard J. Baum Architect, of Cranston, RI

Mark Allen Hewitt, AIA of Mark Allen Hewitt, AIA Architect of Bernardsville, NJ

Martha L. Werenfels, AIA, of Durkee, Brown, Viveiros & Werenfels Architects, Providence, RI

Westport Residence

Vicente-Burin Architects, LLC, Fairfield, CT

Photographer: Maggie Cole

Jury comments: This project had many innovative features, for its large family program. The spaces are arranged quite cleverly. The design deals well with a problematic site: the house can be seen from 360 degrees. This is a very inviting house with an elegant special transition from high elevation to the garden, and despite its size, does not have an overwhelming feel. Its Colonial Revival interpretative interior goes well with exterior detailing.

AIA Connecticut 2005 Alice Washburn Awards

Honorable Mention

South Cove Residence
Point One Architects + Planners, Old Saybrook, CT

Photographer: Jeff Evans

Jury comments: This small house has great presence with nice architectural moves. The jury appreciated its modest scale. The basic sequence of two main rooms off the tower makes for a successful partee, a strong and effective statement in a relatively small house. The design is innovative with some traditional features, a nice vernacular and light touch.