For Immediate Release:

Doyle Coffin Architecture has been providing exceptional architectural design to residential, commercial, religious and municipal clients throughout Fairfield County, New York and Greater New England for more than forty years. We are based in Ridgefield, Connecticut with two partners and an overall staff of eleven.

At Doyle Coffin Architecture, we believe in timeless architectural design that appeals to the heart as well as the mind. We work in partnership with our clients to realize their dreams and create structures that combine beauty and function in a style that is contextually appropriate for its setting. Distinctive architectural design supported by professional, intelligent and comprehensive service is our core focus.

Doyle Coffin Architecture is interested in Candidates that:

- Work effectively with project teams.
- Are dedicated to doing quality work within a defined time frame.
- Set personal goals and seek ways to further them.

We invite qualified Architectural Designers (as outlined below) interested in joining DCA to email your letter of introduction (cover letter), resume and a PDF file of your relevant work to: Info@doylecoffinarchitecture.com

Architectural Designer Responsibilities (including, but not limited to):

- Existing Conditions surveying and development of base drawings (plans, sections and elevations).
- Developing Revit models and renderings.
- Developing design drawings (rough sketches, design illustrations and presentation graphics), technical drawings and construction details under the direction of senior staff.
- Contributing to design discussions.
- Building 3D printed and conventionally constructed architectural models and other prototypes.
- Researching products and source materials.
- Collaborating with project teams and being willing to take on any task requested that facilitates the architectural process, project procurement process, office marketing, and general office.
