

THE TURTLE HABITAT

CONCEPT

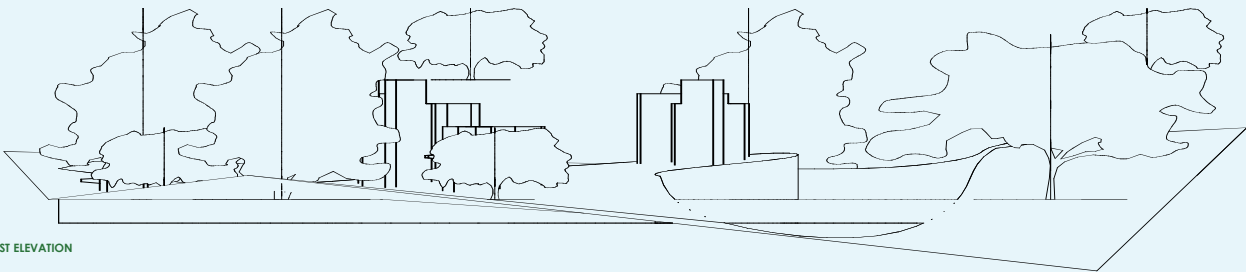

The common snapping turtle is the top predator in its ecosystem, spends most of its time in the water. However, the population of this turtle has declined drastically from the pressure of the pet trade. So, I created this adaptable habitat keeping it within its natural environment, while also having a sense for space by creating pathways, openings and endings, around the water.

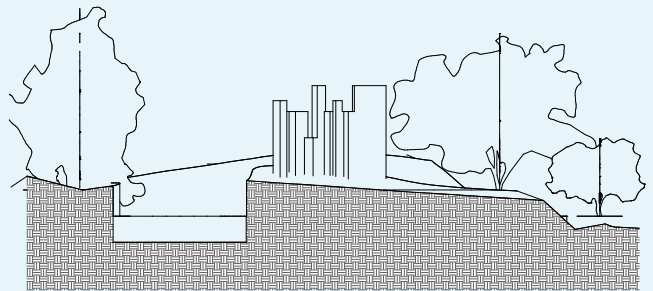

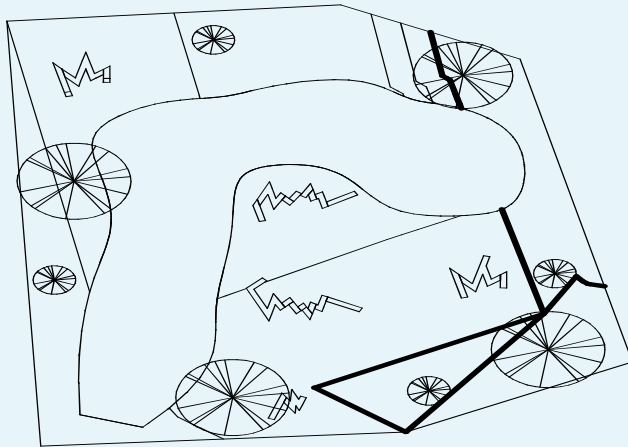

GROUND FLOORPLAN

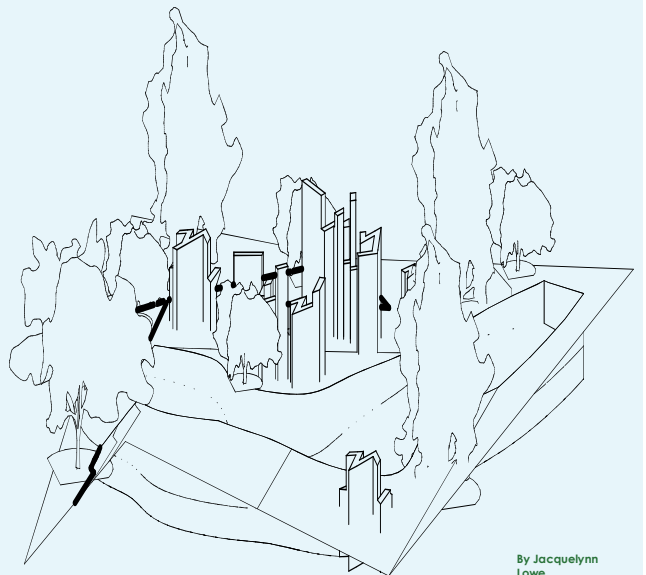

NORTH ELEVATION

EAST ELEVATION

SECTIONAA

By Jacquelynn Lowe